Doctoral Scholars' Meet

Organised jointly by
OKD Institute of Social Change and Development, Guwahati &
Department of History, Dibrugarh University

December 8-9, 2017
Dibrugarh University, Dibrugarh

OKD Institute of Social Change and Development, Guwahati and the Department of History, Dibrugarh University jointly organises a Meet to provide a platform to Social Science Doctoral Scholars enrolled and working in the Universities and Institutions in the state for sharing their research ideas and findings and also for networking among each other. Scholars who are in the middle, final or even early stages of their doctoral research are encouraged to apply for participation in the meet on or before November 20, 2017 along with their complete CV and a 750-800 word up on the main points of their presentation. Selection of the participants will be competitive and maximum 30 participants will be invited to the meet for making presentation. Application should clearly state the stage of their doctoral research.

The programme will be fully residential in nature involving presentations, interactions and group activities. Each scholar will be provided with the sufficient time to make presentations on their research and opportunity to interact with fellow scholars. The meet will also feature select senior scholars who will act as discussant and mentors to the doctoral scholars. There will be a couple of special lectures by very renowned scholars for the benefit of the participants.

All selected candidates will provided with TA (bus and/or 3 tier AC rail fare) by the most direct and shortest route, accommodation and food during their stay.

Interested candidates should email their application, CV and brief note to chandandib@gmail.com with a copy to joydeep.baruah@gmail.com.
